Dolphins

Tim Buckley

Sometimes I think about Saturday's child
And all about the times when we were running wild
I've been out searching for the dolphins in the sea
Ah, but sometimes I wonder, do you ever, ever think of meAh, this old world will never change, ah, the way it's been
And all the ways of war just can't change it back again
I've been out searchin' for the dolphins in the sea
Ah, but sometimes I wonder, do you ever, ever think of meLord, I'm not the one to tell this old world how to get along
I only know that peace will come after all our hate is gone
I've been a-searchin' for the dolphins in the sea
Ah, but sometimes I wonder, do you ever, ever think of meAh, this old world will never change
Ah, this old world will never change
Ah, this old world will never change
Never change
