Starchildren

Bruce Dickinson

I came from nothing before nothing began
Broke the window of existence and became a man
No sympathy for fools, my star is black and burned
I tilt toward the light, I suck your souls into my mightWe are starchildren, coming out of nowhere and to nowhereturn
Starchildren, a hundred million souls sucked out in one breathI shiver at the threshold of your waking hour
The knowledge that you seek is my source of power
I live apart from you, but I know the things you do
No angel can save you ? how?
You don't need a god, ?cause I'm here nowI am starchildren, coming out of nowhere and to nowhere return
Starchildren, a hundred million souls snuffed out in one breathDo I fulfill your deepest need for prophecy?
I am the ruler that you seek, so come to me
Come to meWe are starchildren, coming out of nowhere and to nowhereturn
Starchildren, a hundred million souls snuffed out in one breath
Starchildren, I'm the ruler of existence in your space and time
Starchildren, to penetrate your future is my only crime
Star...
