

Actually It's Darkness

Idlewild

You thought this fire could protect you from it
Why have you been so, why have you been ill informed?
I felt that fire could protect me from everything
You're just too gullible But actually it's darkness, I don't know what I'm scared of
It's darkness, I must be scared of something
You must be scared of something, quite, quite special You shed a shade of shyness
You shed a shade of shyness
You shed a shade of shyness
Why can't you be more cynical? I knew the winter could protect me from it
One box if film won't make it all go cold
I thought that winter could hide me from everything
I'm just too gullible for words Actually it's darkness, I don't know what I'm scared of
It's darkness, I must be scared of something
You must be scared of something, quite, quite special You shed a shade of shyness
You shed a shade of shyness
You shed a shade of shyness
Why can't you be more cynical? I don't look the same in the photograph
I need to look the way I did in the photograph
By mentioning places, it will all become clear
If we speak the same language, you're a deeper darker reason You shed a shade of shyness
You shed a shade of shyness
You shed a shade of shyness
Why can't you be more cynical? You shed a shade of shyness
You shed a shade of shyness
You shed a shade of shyness
Why can't you be more cynical?

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>