Trying Not To Lose

Lucie Silvas

One day, I'll catch this big wave
And take it on, not be swept away
Sometimes my arms get so tired
That when my turn comes, it's gone againIf I could only wake up
Not feeling so confused
About what I got
And what I'm trying not to loseThis love is like a changing wind
That passes by me, blows me away
And the only thing for certain is I'm here today
And I don't think I could handle any other way
If I get dragged down, I'll come up againIf I could only wake up
Not feeling so confused
About what I want
And what I'm trying not to loseI don't mind watching you if you're happy where you are
I've got a feeling something's on the horizon
But I just can't see that farIf I could only wake up
Not feeling so confused
About what I want
And what I'm trying not to loseOne day, I'm gonna wake up
Not feeling so confused
About what I got
And what I'm trying not to lose
