One Love, One Life, One Girl

Wildhearts

[Ginger]The one, the where, the why
The home below the sky
The only thing that men will sing about throughout the world
One love, one life and one girlThe light you gave to me that even I can see
If beauty shines like a precious stone
Then you're the only pearlOne love, one life, one girlAnd maybe there'll be times it seems the height is too big to climb for two
And maybe there'll be days where we forget it's just a phase to get through
And we always make it through 'cos we always do
We always doThe one, the where, the why
That all is measured by
The toughest fall when beauty calls and see how small we curl?
One love, one life and one girl one love, one life and one girl

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/