

Steering Wheel

Face Tomorrow

it is your turn to throw the dice again make up your mind and move your piece ahead what would you say if I bend the rules a bit come on and play this mindless game and when it all comes down to make a choice, to look ahead, what are you waiting for?
you can't predict what happens next, so thinking is losing digging your way through endless energy try to avoid the negativity building up strength and try to break it down carry on through, this game is made for you and when it all comes down to make a choice, to look ahead, what are you waiting for?
you can't predict what happens next, so thinking is losing you think you've won. well think again you try so hard, now what's the plan when all is lost, use your trust trust on what you feel don't be scared to lose it all grab the steering wheel never fear to trip and fall trust on what you feel pay no attention to regret
grab the steering wheel
try to create a filter inside your head and when it all comes down to make a choice, to look ahead, what are you waiting for?
you can't predict what happens next, so thinking is losing you think you've won. well think again
you try so hard, now what's the plan don't be afraid of what's inside what's from within can't be denied

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>