Polish Poem

David Lynch & Chrysta Bell

Polish Poem
David Lynch Chrysta Bell - lyricsI sing this poem to you... on the other side, I see
Shall you wait, no one (?)
Its far away, far away from me,
I can see that
I can see that the wind blows outside and I have no breath
I breath again and know Ill have to live
To forget my world is ending
I have to live
I feel my heart beat
Fluttering in pain, missing something
Tears are coming to my eyes
I cry, I cry
I cannot feel the warmth of the sun
I cannot hear the laughter
Choking with every thought
I see the faces
My hands are tied as I wish
But no one comes
No one comes
Where are you?
Where are you?
What will make me want to live?
What will make me want to love?
Tell metell me
I sing this poem to you
This mystery is unfolding
As a wind blows to me (?or you?)
Something is coming to you
(?) wind (?) sweet child (?)
Something is happening
Something is happening
