In vain

Amirocall

The evidence was there for you to point the finger
A momentary lapse cast me into oblivion
Am I wasting all this time just trying to find the world in your eyes?
I've been holding back myself but I'm closer to the edge
Dusk approaches, I'm standing in the city light
Am I here in vain? Did you not hear a word I said?
When I asked you, I begged you, to just please let me through
I have fallen now, will you pick me up again?
In the face of my failures, I just want you to hear these words
Forget the obvious mistakes so I can breathe
Let me offer you all that I can give, don't shut me out again

I'll shake but I will stand, I'm slipping constantly
I'm falling off the end
Am I here in vain? Did you not hear a word I said?
When I asked you, I begged you, to just please let me through
I have fallen now, will you pick me up again?
In the face of my failures, I just want you to hear these words
Am I here in vain? Did you not hear a word I said?
When I asked you, I begged you, to just please let me through
I have fallen now, will you pick me up again?
In the face of my failures, I just want you to hear these words

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/