Other Worlds

WVNDER

Born and raised from humanity
But I don't feel at home, no matter where I go, I am lost

Keep these thoughts buried inside of me

Cause if the world breaks through my careful ruse, they'll see who I'm not

These demons that hide away

Invisible to most, shivering cold that won't leave my spine

They tell me I'm not the same

Cause there's a fundamental I can't seem to understand

Find my place

Hide away another day

Can't be honest with anyone

Dreadful how far we go to sugarcoat everything we say

Lies we tell to dodge reality

Just pick a hymm to play for when you sin to make it okay

Sometimes I wish I believed

Cause there's a hole inside and I'm afraid to die all alone

Put my burdened mind at ease

I'm waiting for a sign, some way to find where I belong

This is my cry for help

A call from other worlds

Is there anyone else?

Under the precipice I reminisce, collecting my pain

Within a dark abyss my thoughts exists to dig my own grave

This is all I have left
