Raw Deal

The Readymen

There's a shred of guilt in every one of us
And a pain we felt in watching you all suffer
Now the time has come to make amends to everyone
To pay the price for all that we could have done
But we wasted everything, now, now we're done
Now we're doneThere's a shred of guilt in every one of us
And a pain we felt in watching you all suffer
Now the time has come to make amends to everyone
To pay the price for all that we could have done
But we wasted everything, now, now we're done
Now we're doneI preyed on my own people
I took them for all that they have
I laughed at their helplessness
I left them for deadNow I'm tugging on this line
But I can never gain any ground
And from the selfishness I displayed
There's a punishment that I found
