Moonlight Sonata

Benise

Hiding mystery in my head
I avoid the arms that with pleasure
Would welcome my surrenderI can't even trust my eyesThe path I walked is paved with fear
Tunnel with no end
And too winding to understand that all I need is to reach outFor brighter side of the dark
Behind the maskHypocrisy
Night is comeDay is done
Once blood has been drawnThere's always a needBefore the curtain of night will fallWith its heaviness
Before the lamp will project a trembling silhouettes
I'll sneak into your head to steal your happiness
