

Corpses Masquerade

Modern Day Escape

I am my father's son, all the mirrors they don't lie
I'm sick to death of looking through these eyes
Take my teeth and spread 'em across the floor
So everyone can see this smile Get your tickets please, it'll be 5 dollars at the door
Help Nurse, nurse, come quick I think it's happening again
This hole inside my chest that keeps on caving in
All the white pills they aren't doing a damn thing
But making me okay with ending everything Hey, don't you think that I know it's all inside my head?
I fight like everyday, it's always me versus
A never ending battle to keep on living
Shallow breathing, please get off my chest It's growing, where do I turn?
Never knowing, where do I turn? Where do I turn? Dancing death right behind the door
That's why I say Nurse, nurse, come quick I think it's happening again
This hole inside my chest that keeps on caving in
All the white pills they aren't doing a damn thing
But making me okay with ending everything Just take this bottle, turn it upside down and drink up
All the liquid until the pain waters down
Just wash the pain and pills away
Until my breath it starts to fade and my hope is gone I've got a toe tag
And I'm six feet too deep I swear to God everything will be okay
I promise, my friend things will be just fine
I swear to God, I promise Nurse, nurse, come quick I think it's happening again
This hole inside my chest that keeps on caving in
All the white pills they aren't doing a damn thing
But making me okay with ending every All the the white pills they aren't
All the the white pills they aren't
All the the white pills they aren't
I still fall asleep
