

Last Forever

Yves Jean

Jumping up and down
I was beside myself
I cant explain other than how I felt
A smile a mile wide
No sense in looking back
Filled with confidence
You ask..why is that ?
Im not the first to share my emotions
For this I have no shame in my game
Needless to say this changed like the weather
I was not prepared ..for even the worse

How can we pretend
That this will Last Forever
Good things we know will always end
You and only you
Can make this last a little longer

Waiting for you to tell me
What I already knew
I was sitting down
My arms are folded in Rocking back and forth
my eyes were in delight
What can ruin my peace and harmony but surprise ..surprise you had something else in store making wonder whats real or fake anymore this goes to show you
Hope for the best ..bur as a result expect
Nothing

How can we pretend
That this will Last Forever
Good things we know will always end
You and only you

Can make this last a little longer

I want to crawl away from my past
A clear conscience is all that I ask A new skin to put me in and a slate thats clean and bright
It so hard everyday
For me to act and think a certain way
Theres no reason for me to act any other way
Take me for what I am
Take me for what I do
Ill try my best to balance it out
A little longer

How can we pretend
That this will Last Forever
Good things we know will always end
You and only you
Can make this last a little longer

---

Lyrics submitted by Josh Woodard.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>