Robots

Dan Mangan

I don't know what you've been told
But I don't get out much these days
Waking young and feeling old
The days are no longer my own
To piss away the waking hours
But don't don't don't don't let them go
Don't don't don't don't don't let them go to waste
The fire in my eye is fleeting now
Your robot heart is bleeding
Try to be the robot king
And settled for a robot boy
Ring the bells that still can ring
And sing your stupid head off to the ones who are not listening
But don't don't don't don't let them go
Don't don't don't don't don't let them go to waste
The fire in my eye is fleeting now
Your robot heart is bleeding out
And I spend half of my life in the customer service line
Flaws in the design
A sign of the times
And that little voice in the back of your mind
Just wants you to know
Just hopes that you know
Robots need love too
They want to be loved by you
They want to be loved by you
They want to be loved by
Robots need love too
They want to be loved by you
They want to be loved by you
They want to be loved by
Robots need love too
They want to be loved by you
They want to be loved by you
They want to be loved by
Robots need love too
They want to be loved by you
They want to be loved by you
They want to be loved by you
