Goo Goo Dolls

Crowded room is full of empty faces
The deepest conversation, full of lies
Another night with all my friends, the kind you never see again
I wonder if they'll see through my disguise
And I want to say that I can't hold back
And it might be wrong, but it's all I have
Come take me home tonight
Come take me home
I need you now, I'm lost with you
A million miles, but I will find you
So take me home
It's 3 a.m. and I can't sleep without you
I think I found the perfect words to say
The satellite transmits my voice, sometimes we don't have a choice
Wake you up from half a world away
And I tried so hard, tried to be so strong
But you see the cracks, my defenses gone
Come take me home tonight
Come take me home
I need you now, I'm lost with you
A million miles, but I will find you
Come take me home tonight
Come take me home
Come take me home tonight
(The satellite transmits my voice, sometimes we don't have a choice)
Come take me home
(Wake you up from half a world away)
I need you now, I'm lost with you
I'm holdin' on, 'til I can find you
So take me home
