One More

Hanson

I sit here by myself
Just staring into space
I thought I knew you well
Well who can ever say
It seems I've spent so long
I can't define my right from wrong
One more for the night
One more for the pain and
One more, long goodbye
And one shot to the brain
And one more takes the knife
And one more takes the train
Who do I name today
A dream of better days
Was long gone by the way
Is there a better place
Well who can ever say
It seems I've spent so long
I can't define my right from wrong
One more for the night

One more for the pain and
One more, long goodbye
And one shot to the brain
And one more takes the knife
And one more takes the train
Who do I name today
Who do I blame today
Nothing's over 'til it's over
And if it's over I don't Want to hear it
Look into my eyes I told her
Holding onto what is gone won't heal it
It seems I've spent so long I can't Define my right from wrong
One more for the night
One more for the pain and
One more, long goodbye
And one shot to the brain

And one more takes the knife
And one more takes the train
Who do I name today
Who do I blame today

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/