

I Know a Guy

Chris Young

If you need your car towed,
If that Volkswagen breaks down on the way out of this town.
I know a guy.
I'll make a few calls,
if you need something part time
'til you're back on your feet.
I know a guy. And if you're looking for someone barely hanging on, lost the only thing that he ever loved wishing you would come over
give anything just to hold ya.
If you're trying to find a man who lost his mind,
doesn't sleep at night unless he's dreaming about you laying right here beside him
praying someday you might feel like forgiving
and think about giving him one more try.
Then I know a guy. If you would ask me to think of a person that didn't deserve you.
I know a guy.
If you needed a man to never really listen
not know what he'd be missing.
I know a guy. If you're looking for someone barely hanging on,
lost the only thing he ever loved
wishing you would come over
give anything just to hold ya.
If you're trying to find a man who lost his mind,
doesn't sleep at night unless he's dreaming about you laying right here beside him
praying someday you might feel like forgiving
and think about giving him one more try.
Then I know a guy. Who feels like a fool,
He's been hating himself for what he put you through.
He'd take it all back if he only knew how.
He knows that you've probably moved on by now. If you're looking for someone barely hanging on,
lost the only thing he ever loved
wishing you would come over
give anything just to hold ya.
If you're trying to find a man who lost his mind,
doesn't sleep at night unless he's dreaming about you laying right here beside him
praying someday you might feel like forgiving
and think about giving him one more try.
Then I know a guy. One, one more try.
I know a guy.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnyrics.com/>