Against The Wall

Steve Perry

All of my life I've waited
For someone like you
And darling, forever someday
That could be true
But who would believe me
From the middle of my hear
From the middle of my lonely
Something's tearing you and me apart
Here I am
(And here I am)
Against the wall once again
(And here I am)
Believe I want you, I'd like to
More than I show

But I belong to somebody else, baby, please
Walk out that door, yeah, oh
Before it's too late, listen
In the middle of your touch
In the middle where your heat starts rising
Oh, girl, I want you so bad
Here I am
(And here I am)
Against the wall again
(And here I am)
Against the wall, once again
(And here I am)
Yeah, against the wall again
