

Big Before It Bursts

Reckless Sleepers

I am on an island and different shades of blue Now have me surrounded and they all are you Tragedy is sadder than happiness is glad You think of him in terms of what you could have had

And you cry
I'm never glad to see you
when you cry
I always wonder why
You just don't run away
If you prepare to take the worst
It's gonna get big before it bursts

He's having a mood again
You're having the pain Through your blind belief that you're one and the same But you're perfectly happy when he's perfectly gone
He uses your soul to write his name upon

So you cry
I'm never glad to see you
when you cry
I always wonder why
You just don't run away
If you prepare to take the worst
It's gonna get big before it bursts

You think it's you who changed him but he's mad at the world Believe him when he tells you that you're just a girl
He doesn't want to walk alone he keeps you behind to be a willing witness to his slow decline

It's a slow decline

When you cry
I'm never glad to see you
when you cry
I always wonder why
You just don't run away
If you prepare to take the worst
The chair thrown cross the room and the final act but first
it's gonna get big before it bursts

Lyrics Submitted by Richard Gagnon

Lyrics provided by <https://damnlyrics.com/>