

Beautiful Tragedy

Coco Jones

Silent night, let me sleep away these memories within Sacrifices of purity are turning into sins
And this judgment day is growing near
And this confession is killing me again
This beautiful tragedy is crashing into me
This dying destiny
So now you lay yourself down in this grave with shattered eyes
Beautiful melodies to try and wash away the lies
And this judgment day is growing near
And this confession is killing me again
Will you be there?
Will you be there by my grave
Or will you be the death of me?
My beautiful tragedy
This beautiful tragedy is crashing into me
This dying destiny, take me away
This beautiful tragedy come crashing into me
This dying destiny
