

A Ghost On The East Coast

The One AM Radio

lost my patience outside a train station somewhere south of massachusetts, along with all the uses for my hands.
back on track twenty-nine, and i'm on the wrong side of the shoreline. and you're nowhere in sight, just the sodium glare from the platform lights. miles away and without a home. breathless and relentless, and no trace of a

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>