

Visions of a Lost Kingdom

The Kovenant

Swept in the wintery landscapes Untouched by the hands of the holy But not for myself...

I am a demon, I hold the key

But to crush the feeble race I have had visions of lost kingdom

Once so proud but only to fall We raise the sign on the mountainside

This domain....

Is eternally ours In eternal search for immortality Out world is like a black soul But the soul is tired of searching...
