Property

Ubiquitous

Don't you go leaving, baby I'll find you
Tell all your secrets and no one will want you
It's for your own good, I know what's best for you
If you won't sleep with me, there will be no rest for youUntil the day you're broke, until you drop and choke
I'll be your man this much I know
Until the empire falls, until you think at allYou gave your love to me and now you are my property
You've sold your soul, you can't retrieve the love I stole from you
It's true, deny with everything you do
You're my property, you're my propertySell you into bondage, baby I own you
You'll entertain all my friends dressed in the latest trendy frocks
You'd better tattoo that I am your patriarch
I ate your ambition, soon you will fear the dark because I lurk in your bedUntil the day you see that you mean nothing to me
Until the day I find someone to fall in line
Without a single sin, without an opinionYou gave your love to me and now you are my property
You've sold your soul, you can't retrieve the love I stole from you
It's true, deny with everything you do
You're my property, you're my propertyBaby, I know you've got all those crazy, lofty goals
Going to art school and following your dreams and whatnot
Blah, blah, blah, just throw it to the side
I can support us all on my own and worst caseI'll just have to sell some drugs to my little brother's friends
If you do have to sell your body once or twice or seven times
It'll be worth it, trust me, one day my band is going to make it
And this will all be just a distant, distant dreamUntil the earth's removed or daddy don't approve
Whatever happens first depending on my moodYou gave your love to me and now you are my property
You've sold your soul, you can't retrieve the love I stole from you
It's true, deny with everything you do
You're my property, you're my property, you're my property

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/