Too Young For Love

Michelle Williams

Her mom says she don't want him calling
That house phone no more
Her dad told her that she should find her
Some new friends, stop always thinking about boys
But how can they possibly make her decisions?
It breaks her heart inside
Sixteen years old going through these transitions
They don't care about how hard she cries
He's just a boy, she's just a girl
Alone in this world
They're not too young for love
They'll run away together
So they won't have to answer to anyone
Who says they're too young for love?
Got a scholarship but he don't Wanna go straight to college
'Cause she's just a junior and he's going to leave her
Her parents are making it worse
But how can they possibly make his decisions?
It breaks his heart inside
Eighteen years old and he's in this condition
They don't care about losing his fight
He's just a boy, she's just a girl
Alone in this world
They're not too young for love
They'll run away together
So they won't have to answer to anyone
Who says they're too young for love?
Too young for love, so all alone
But they think they're not too young for love
They'll run away together
So they won't have to answer to anyone
Who says they're too young for love?
How can two people hide
What they're feeling inside?
Can't keep giving up on our heart
Can't let them break us apart
Just because they think that we're too young
He's just a boy, she's just a girl

Alone in this world
They're not too young for love
They'll run away together
So they won't have to answer to anyone
Who says they're too young for love?
Too young for love, so all alone
But they think they're not too young for love
They'll run away together
So they won't have to answer to anyone
Who says they're too young for love?
He's just a boy, she's just a girl
Alone in this world
They're not too young for love
They'll run away together
So they won't have to answer to anyone
Too young for love, so all alone
But they think they're not too young for love
They'll run away together
So they won't have to answer to anyone

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/