

Cognitive Computations

Allegaeon

A vision, free of form, curling through neural canyons; gaining traction in this labyrinth of synapses.
Partitions ripped and torn, scorched by vicious thought expansion; rapidly flashing as walls begin collapsing Decisions ever bornswirling sets of circumstances; frantically grasping out for logic in this madness. Expeditions to foreign zones-the composition of gods and worms within the mind while feigning self-determination Reborn, reformed reality torn-release identification through beliefs.
Restore, transform the anatomy of the mind as is: a cognitive machine Amidst centrifugal drifting chemical reactions pressing the boundaries of human understanding Through calculation and retracing the course of action one can defer that all behavior is a predetermined course Coursing through our veins are complex sets and strings of ego Binary beings on a desperate quest for meaning in this world passing through our space in time as live examples for computational cognition the essence of the soul Reborn reformed reality torn-release identification through beliefs Restore, transform the anatomy of the mind as is: a cognitive machine Lost in thought I've gone and returned.
This place of stones has overgrown Long since removed and left alone
The dream recurring wherein is stirring a weak and worried whisper dying and diseased. choice is lost obey this voice without words Absent of control and spiraling out spiraling further down. Coursing through our veins are complex sets and strings of ego Binary beings on a desperate quest for meaning in this world Passing through our space in time as live examples for computational cognition the essence of the soul Reborn, reformed reality torn-release identification through beliefs.

Restore, transform the anatomy of
