

New York City

Paul Van Dyk

I watch the sky turn black to blush
Head still spinning from the rush
Of all the things I did the night before And looking down from my hotel
These dawn lit streets begin to fill
With memories of you and I On a New York City night
On a New York City night I shake my head to clear the sounds
The traffic horns, the growing crowd
Sun awaking over Central Park Still it creeps beneath my skin
All of these heartbeats in the din
With concrete dreams stirring to life On a New York City night
On a New York City night And I take it with me when I leave
The crowded skyline, the energy
Sleepless city always leaves its mark Just close my eyes and I'm back again
The neon flush upon our skin
Still wrapped in thoughts of love and wine On a New York City night
On a New York City night On a New York City night
