

Bitter Teeth

We Are Monroe

Verse:

Changing your mind, all of the time living a lie, you know I'd never take it waiting for signs, you'll never find fighting the tide, well, life is what you make it Pre-chorus:
So why don't you break down again and blame me, all the while you turn your back again and faked it all the time

Verse:
wasting your nights, hitching for rides cutting the ties to everyone you need it hoping to find what you left behind throwing the towel before you could ever make it

Chorus:
So why don't you do right by me?
another side of what you'll never see this guilt is all you've got,
weighting in your mind

Verse:
changing your mind, all of the time living the lie, you know I'd never take it waiting for signs, you'll never find fighting the tide, when you can't take it Pre-chorus:
So why don't you break down again and show me why you had to turn your back again and think it over

Chorus:
So why don't you do right by me?
another side of what you'll never see
this guilt is all you've got,
running through your mind well I'm not sure

just how you thought it'd be another side of life you'll never see this time is all we've got weighting in your mind

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>