

Hymn For The Wretched

The Black Dahlia Murder

We are the blackness of the night cold wind that cuts your flesh
We are the enemy praying for your certain death
We are what was, will be forevermore
In the stillest hours we awaken, enshrouded in the dark
Children of the blackest seed
Reared on murder and deceit
We are the thorns of human woe
His will be done
To the humble maggots to the putrid flies
Where death and hatred lurk we shall survive
To the diseases to the sharpest knives
When daybreak no more comes we shall arise
We are the sickness, the stench of the deceased
Your father's secret shame our violent wrath shall be unleashed
We feast on blood and the weakness of your kind
From the haunted depths we have arisen to slither as the snake
Children of the blackest seed
Reared on murder and deceit
We are the thorns of human woe
His will be done
To the humble maggots to the putrid flies
Where death and hatred lurk we shall survive
To the diseases to the sharpest knives
When daybreak no more comes we shall arise
Lurking legion of the obscene
Unheard forever in between
Unbound
The liars in wait our being you forsake
Whispers upon the winds, profane
Unheard, the wretched and the insane
Unbound, forgotten, ignored
The ugliness abhorred
The razor, the bullet, the length of rope
Our tools are numerous, our hatred overflows
The razor, the bullet, the length of rope
A lapse of sanity plummets to earth below
We are the blackness of the night cold wind that cuts your flesh
We are the enemy praying for your certain death
We are what was, will be forevermore

In the stillest hours we awaken, enshrouded in the dark
Lurking legion of the obscene
Unheard forever in between
Unbound
The liars in wait our being you forsake
Whispers upon the winds, profane
Unheard, the wretched and the insane
Unbound, forgotten, ignored
The ugliness abhorred
We are the sliver in your God's feeble hand
During the silent hours, the shadows we command
We're the undying insect, from the deepest cracks we came
For aeon's we have lurked and for aeon's we shall remain

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>