

Nothing Visible; Ocean Empty

Every Time I Die

Erase all the bastards, that gripped her, the vultures
And your sad eyes, that don't flicker
Protect her Turn the world into the wild There is nothing outside but a mirror and the sky
You're a dream in a dream, you're the only one alive Try bursting the clouds
Try not making a sound, or leaving the ground So much space
And all I paint
Are all your spills
Our black waves I used to go easy
Yeah I noticed all the beauty
Now it's bent
It's all heavy
Reflector
But the magic isn't real, til the magic is gone
If the flame was eternal, then it won't be for long There is nothing inside, but a mirror and a light
You're caught in between I'm setting sail but I'm still as the wind doesn't blow
I'm waiting for a train, I don't think it'll show
I'm at party but there's nobody here that I know I've called together every wolf in the Arctic, then I cried wolf, I cried wolf
I built a house on the grave that you haunted, then I shook, I got shook
I've called together every wolf in the Arctic, then I cried wolf, I cried wolf
I built a house on the grave that you haunted, then I shook, I got shook
I lit a match and threw it into the garden. Yeah and it took, oh it took Somebody tell me if I'm dear and departed, I can't look, I can't look Try bursting the clouds
Try not making a sound, or leaving the ground All I create is empty space
Empty space, empty space
Cheer up
Have you ever thought of smiling more?
You look so good
Try smiling more
