New Found Glory

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

You're more than tongue-tied this time
Well, I can feel it in your lips
Nobody told me you were a sucker for a kiss
Music low, we're all alone, being wrong never felt so right Tell me about your first kiss
Tell me or have you already forgotten it?
Tell me about your first kiss
What do I have to do to get through all of this?
I'm writing it down, I bet you thought this song was about you You're more that just mad this time
You've got that look in your eye
Nobody told me you were a sucker for a kiss
Music low, we're all alone, being wrong never felt so right Tell me about your first kiss
Tell me or have you already forgotten it?
Tell me about your first kiss
What do I have to do to get through all of this?
I'm writing it down, just leave me here and tell me to my face What you think about, can we figure out
What happened to our happy ending anyway?
How you feel about leaving me here with a lot more left to say
Music low, we're all alone, being wrong never felt so right Tell me about your first kiss
Tell me or have you already forgotten it?
Tell me about your first kiss
What do I have to do to get though all of this?
I'm writing it down, I bet you thought this song was about you
Was about you, was about you, was about you, was about you
