Fascination

Joyless

I am trapped inside these four walls that I magnify
This personality I've built around me
Will wrap me till the day I die
And everyone is standing around
Holding chips of broken days
And while the stones tear into their skin
They're fearing life in a dreamy haze

I am the one locked outside
While the curious are all peering in
Our true selves that we hide
As we blend into a practical being
I am morphing into you
Our mental iceberg split in two
What is there left to give?
If you take it all with you?

Interconnection of you and me
Living the perfect dream
Exploring the neurosis ride
Of human emotions intertwined
Blending and morphing into a pretty coloured butterfly
Spiraling down, exploring around
Flowing in and out of you

Fascination fall ..
Fascination fall ..
Let the world fall way ..
