

The Sea

Orange Yellow Red

We see ourselves across the tide
Of the darkened ocean
Never thought I'd ever doubt
The same as you
These feelings hurt
These feelings hold me down again
In the sea of doubt about myself
The same old painful thoughts of when I was a child
We're running away
To find our way back homeEchos of love in the sky
The memories that passed us by
What it feels to touch the sky
When all the hope is lost inside
Drift into our lonely worlds
And fill our hearts with empty shells
I am still haunted..We see ourselves is another time
A time gone past
And every time you always get
The chance to be a real person
You're full of insecurities and different hopes
And all the time we drift into our lonely worlds
And I'm so tired of running away
To find my way back homeEchos of love in the sky
The memories that still go by
What it feels to touch the sky
When all the hope is lost inside
It makes me cry
The path we choose
I am still haunted
