Not Giving Up

Daniel Merriweather

Went through three winters, three summers
Thinking that you're gonna return
My friends said it over and over
Gotta stop holding on to her
I went through fire and rain
Every moment that I thought you'd call
There was nothing I gained
How did I get the blame for it all?
Feels like I could never let you go
'Cause it just intensifies the pain
I wish there was a way to let you know
That being without you is not the same
So I'm not giving up on love
You know our history, ya, we were meant to be
Why should I give you up, my love
It was you and me, now I'm left with nothing, yeah
Do you remember the flowers I sent
They don't grow in September, you know
You said, you didn't feel loved, you know, better girl
But that was the story you told
You said that you tried and you tried
You kept telling that lie, you just said

What you feel you can't hide
You can't find it in nobody else
Feels like I could never let you go
'Cause it just intensifies my pain
I wish there was a way to let you know
Being without you is not the same, yeah
So I'm not giving up on love
You know our history, ya, we were meant to be
Why should I give you up, my love
It was you and me, now I'm left with nothing
So I'm not giving up on love
You know our history, ya, we were meant to be
Why should I give you up, my love
It was you and me, now I'm left with nothing
Giving up on love
You know our history, ya, we were meant to be

Why should I give you up, my love
It was you and me, now I'm left with nothing
Giving up, giving up
Giving up, giving up

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/