Divide (feat. Casey Lee Williams)

Jeff Williams

Does it feel good? Knowing you tried?
Knowing that all that remains
Is the slow cold brutal death
Of the fools that will all die in vainHow does it feel Knowing your efforts will fail?
All that you've built will be torn down
The hope of your people assailedSend your guardians
They will fail
Legends and heroes will crumble and fall
You will not prevailWhen allied together
A threat men display
Divide them with doubt
It will all wash awayOne spark can incite their hope
And ignite the hearts of their weary souls
I will extinguish that flameForm your armies dream your dreams
Make your plans and plot your schemesSend your fighters one and all
Then in battle watch them fallIt was you who ended their lives
Made them to dig their own graves
With your dark, sick, cruel design
Convinced them their world could be savedHave you no shame?
Signing them up for your war
Train them to fight what they can't beat
Your sins are what they'll pay forSacrifice them
For your needs
Slaughter is coming the end drawing near
You'll regret your deedsLegends and fairy tales
Scattered in time
Maidens and kingdoms
Wrapped up in a lieThese children you mislead
You'll watch them all bleed
Strength will not bring victoryDivide them
Tear them apart
Sever their trust
It will strangle their heartsInside them
Plant seeds of doubt
Hope will be smothered
They'll turn on each otherHatred will sprout
Suspicion and doubt
Friendships deny

While allegiances dieThe taste will be sweet
When you get what you've earned
And I'll watch you burn

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/