Five Years From Now

Jamie McDell

Twenty-thousand missed calls on my phone
Knocking on my door but I'm not home
I've been thinking, been frustrated all along
Tryna fit into a place I've never knownI spent one-hundred-fifty dollars on that dream
Then I finally found some space where I could see
I'm not interested in what they think I need
My only medicine is singing by the seaIt's all I know
It's all I knowAll these faces
And all these changes
But where do I go now?
I need the ocean
That devotion
To help me figure out
Where I wanna be...
Five years from now
I've seen punk and pop and indie, all it means
Is that the generations can't come to agree
But I know I won't be bothered by that scene
As long as country brings me back to seventeenBut it's all they know
It's all they knowAll these faces
And all these changes
But where do I go now?
I need the ocean
That devotion
To help me figure out
Where I wanna be...
Five years from nowWhere do I go
When there's no place like home
Where do I go
I don't know, I don't know, I don't know
All these faces
And all these changes
But where do I go now?
I need the ocean
That devotion
To help me figure out...
All these faces
And all these changes
But where do I go now?

I need the ocean
That devotion
To help me figure out
Where I wanna be...
Five years from now
(Woah-oh)
Where I wanna be...
Five years from now
