

This Winter Day's Magic

DeadLock

This winter day's magic seems not to be noticed by me again tired and uninspired
tired and uninspired
Oh yes the song i listen to says so much But is it really my fault should i be more open-hearted Should i completely change myself to start being loved by people i don't love Should i completely change myself Or should i always smile and start talking to those people But i hate those conversations those i hope they soon run dry
But i hate those conversations those i hope they soon run dry And the circle seems to close itself Apathy spreads it's wings This winter day's magic seems not to be noticed This winter day's magic seems not to be noticed by me again by me again so i wait for your call because i need you there so i wait for your call because i need you there But the phone doesn't ring* depression embrace my soul embrace my soul Frustration tears my heart again and again Frustration tears my heart again and again
Frustration tears my heart again and again
