

Backseat

BYU Noteworthy

Lucky for me,
I still catch a breeze from the backseat.
I hide out of sight
So you feel like you're doing something right.

Said you've been searching for what has not been found,
But now you're just driving to nowhere
When all you should do is just turn,
Turn your head around.

You say you need a better sound,
And when I sing,
I always see you
Smile at my melody.

I'm used to speed.
You can't throw away what make you complete.
I feel how you feel.
You wanna hide 'cause you know that it's real.

Said you've been searching for what has not been found,
But now you're just driving to nowhere
When all you should do is just turn,
Turn your head around.

You say you need a better sound,
And when I sing,
You repeat after me.
You smileâ€“at your melody.

I never left your side (I won't leave your side).
You lost me, but I've always been along for the ride.

Now you're just unhappy
When it could have went perfectly.
You hear the sweetest sound,
But you refuse to turn your head around.

You say you need a better sound,
And when you sing

You sound just like me.
We sing in perfect harmony.

It's me,
Hiding in your backseat.
