Paperboy

Stabilo

You went from being him to being you that night when you told me the truth You hid your face inside your hands and cried and told me that you once wanted to dieI went from being me to being her the very moment you let out those words the unknown the unspoken the unseen I'm not your lover not your friend but something in between"What you are afraid of has already taken place it will never hurt that much again
The sense of being marked of having fallen out of grace these feelings are just echoes from back then"Paperboy I'll never let you fallI know that she abandoned you back then the girl who was your lover and your friend Your secret does not scare me a bit you see I once defeated that same sorrow inside me"What you are afraid of..."Paperboy
I'll never let you fall
