

An Awful Lot Of Running

Chameleon Circuit

He is like fire, Burning through time
As old as forever
But fast in his prime
I saw his blue spaceship materialize
He looked out and said to me, Run for your life!

I don't know why i never thought to ask him for his name
But i really don't think he'd have told me the truth anyway

But that's okay

It's completely terrifying
But it's so, so exciting
He said I was brilliant and I could change the world
So many places I've been There's so much more to see
We've got galaxies and planets and moons

And an awful lot of running to do

As a full-time companion, he gave me a key
And a phone with a signal in every galaxy
As we fell through the vortex I felt so free
Please don't let this danger just be another dream

'Cause my life before you was unreasonably mundane
And I've never been happier although we face death every day
I wouldn't have it any other way

It's completely terrifying, But it's so, so exciting
He said I was brilliant and I could change the world
So many places I've been, There's so much more to see
We've got galaxies and planets and moons
And an awful lot of running to do

And you know you can fix that Chameleon Circuit if you just try hot-wiring the Fragment Links and superseding the Binary Binary Binary Binary Binary Binary...

It's completely terrifying but it's so, so exciting
He said I was brilliant and I could change the world

So many places I've been, there's so much more to see
We've got galaxies and planets and moons
And an awful lot of running to do
