Still Feels Good

Rascal Flatts

Come on
Still feels good
Still feels good
That old t-shirt you wear to bed
Hangin' off your shoulders by a thread
The one you ripped off me when we first met
Still feels good
That old familiar song blarin' from my car
We know every note, every word by heart
Puts a smile on your face 'cause you know it's ours
And it still feels good, yeah
Your fingers hooked around my belt loops
Leanin' up against my ride
Remember the first time I touched you
It doesn't matter, I've held you a million times
Still feels good
It still feels good
We made some plans, had some crazy dreams
And now that we've reached a few, you would think
That it would get old to you and me
But it still feels good, still feels good
Your fingers hooked around my belt loops
Leanin' up against my ride
Remember the first time I touched you
It doesn't matter, I've held you a million times
Your fingers hooked around my belt loops
Leanin' up against my ride
Remember the first time I touched you
It doesn't matter, I've held you, I've touched you
I've felt you, I've loved you and it still feels good
Yeah, and it still feels good, baby
Yeah, it still feels good
Still feels good
Still feels good
Still feels good, baby
Still feels good
