Your Love

Yuna

I've looked around the world
The sky and all the Universe
For a love that's pure and true
So I can forget about youI've walked a thousand miles
I've seen a million stars
And still the ocean breeze
Remind me of what we used to beMy heart is wanting me to run right back to you
My mind is telling me to go find something new
My body is tired cause I can't move on, yeah
And nothing compares to your loveYour loveAll the sunsets through the night
Drifting into the morning light
Memories of you they fill my mind
You stand still in space & timeMy heart is wanting me to run right back to you
My mind is telling me to go find something new
My body is tired cause I can't move on, yeah
And nothing compares to your loveYour loveNothing compares to your loveMy heart is wanting me to run right back to you
My mind is telling me to go find something new
My body is tired cause I can't move on, yeah
And nothing compares to your loveNothing compares to your love
