

Broken

Thorne Empire

Living in the desert
In the land that time forgot
Waiting here to find a sign
Sign of what was lost

Should I stay or should I go
In this place that I used to call my home
Where happiness only lasted for a moment
Before reality took over

Shattered dreams turned hearts into stone
And I feel all of them tearing inside my soul
If broken words could heal the world
There would be no pain at all

Should I stay or should I go
Running is the only thing that I have ever known
If there is hope inside this place
I do not feel it anymore

I am lost, and I have fallen
Like this place I am broken
My heart was shattered more than once
And my body has been teared inside out

Should I stay or should I go
So much pain inside this world
Broken promises that twist the souls
Shattered dreams turn hearts to stone
And I am ripped between two worlds
Broken and unknown
Which one do I call my home

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>