Silverlight

Angel at my table

Shes the light in me keeps me company on stormy days (stormy days)
When shes around I feel protected
Our minds are connected when I cry, she shares my tears
All my thoughts, all my feelings, she will always understand me
And all the worst becoming sweeter the time she holds my hand
And when I fall asleep shes the guardian of my dreams
With a soul as white as angel's wingsWhen the stars fall out the sky above, oh I know,
Youll be there, youll be watching me, be there,
And by the end of the day Ill walk beside you (Youll be there, youll be watching me, be there)Youre the light in me
All the time you ever lit my way (lit my way)
When we are million miles apart
You reach my hand and touch my heart
And I am sure youll never let me down
A single soul in two bodies, nothing breaking us in two How good it feels, when you notice that there is always someone who
You can rely upon, when times are not that easy let me be just half the friend you are to meCherish friendship in your breast
New is good, but old is best; yeah
Make new friends, but keep the old;
Those are silver, you are gold
