Reborn

Day of Fire

Reborn, a birth that comes through water

The fallen of the garden is drowning in the water

The water, the waterI wait for you to carry meWake to the work in the fields, harvest has come

The sun is setting on the hill, day is soon doneNewborn through brokenness and calling

On hand and knees we're crawling

The Fathers voice is calling youWake to the work in the fields, harvest has come

The sun is setting on the hill, day is soon done

The servants at work by the will of He who returns

Wake to the work in the fields, harvest has come

The sun is setting on the hill, day is soon done

The sun is setting on the hill, day is soon done

The servants at work by the will of He who returns

Wake to the work in the fields, harvest has come

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/