

Rulers of the Mind

Evergrey

You can't possibly know me
What I feel cause even I don't
A strange sensation of never being lonely
Has made me question the essence of existence
Of life Are we parts of a puzzle?
Small pieces in a major plan
Puppets on a string being run by a master
Formed and shaped like clay I'm trying but failing unanswered cries unite
The struggling of finding the truth behind the lies
I'm trying, they're laughing, my rulers of the mind
I'm trying, I'm trying Their constant presence deceives me
I can't tell when I'm awake or when I dream
And my hiding is useless
My anxiety reveals me
Gives me away
