

Virtuality

Rush

Like a shipwrecked mariner adrift on an unknown sea

Clingin' to the wreckage of the lost ship fantasy I'm a castaway stranded in a desolate land

I can see the footprints in the virtual sandNet boy, net girl

Send your signal 'round the world

Let your fingers walk and talk

And set you freeNet boy, net girl

Send your impulse 'round the world

(Put your message in a modem)

Put your message in a modem

(And throw it in the cyber sea)

And throw it in the cyber sea Astronauts in the weightlessness of pixel lated space

Exchange graffiti with a disembodied race I can save the universe in a grain of sand

I can hold the future in my virtual handNet boy, net girl

Send your signal 'round the world

Let your fingers walk and talk

And set you freeNet boy, net girl

Send your impulse 'round the world

(Put your message in a modem)

Put your message in a modem

(And throw it in the cyber sea)

And throw it in the cyber sea Let's dance tonight to a virtual song

Press this key and you can play along

Let's fly tonight on our virtual wings

Press this key to see amazin' things

To see amazin' things Like a pair of vagabonds who wave between two passin' trains

Or the glimpse of a woman's smile through a window in the rain I can smell her perfume, I can taste her lips

I can feel the voltage from her fingertips Net boy, net girl

Send your heartbeat 'round the world

Let your fingers walk and talk

And set you freeNet boy, net girl

Send your impulse 'round the world

Put your message in a modem

And throw it in the cyber sea (Put your message in a modem)

Put your message in a modem

(And throw it in the cyber sea)

And throw it in the cyber sea
