...So Strange

Agent Orange

I've heard that voice before somehow, I can't imagine It speaks words without knowing what they mean I've seen that face before somewhere, I can't remember It seems as if it happened in a dreamI laughed and now you know That some things never change I laughed again because to me you seem So strangeI know, I never should expect to finish something I know will never be complete I feel as if I'm lost again, I'm not, I'm only dreaming In a world where sound and silence seem to meetI block out all the noise A silent song remains I know it's only music but it sounds So strangeHow does it feel to speak the words And sing the song? So strangeSo strange So strange So strange

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/