Long Lost Lover

The Hues

Verse 1:
It took two seconds for me to see, when your suitcase hit the floor.
I passed two years of memories, waiting for goodbyes at the door.
You said it don't feel like home no more, I said I'll be fine.
I didn't try to change your mind.

Chorus:
I've been up all night drinking home-made wine, oh it's half past five,
and I'm playing your records one more time.
Baby out west the stars are hanging low, but this east coast sun is rising slow.
It feels like just another long, long lost lover.
Long lost lover.

Verse 2:
In the living room by candlelights sound turned down on the TV screen.
We'd watch old french films in black and white and make up words to any scene.
Hell it just don't feel like home no more.
Honey I ain't fine I can't get you off my mind.

Chorus:
I've been up all night drinking home-made wine, oh it's half past five,
and I'm playing your records one more time.
Baby I'm west the stars are hanging low, this east coast sun is rising slow.
It feels like just another long, long lost lover.
Long lost lover.

brdige:
With distance between us, I'll get over you.

Chorus:
I've been up all night drinking home-made wine, oh it's half past five,
and I'm playing your records one last time.
Baby I'm west I hope you find the home, this east coast I carry on.
It feels like just another long, long lost lover.
It feels like just another long, long lost lover.
Long Long lost lover
It feels, long lost lover.
