When I'm Thinking About You

The Sundays

Over the rooftops, a plane in the sky
Beat of a bass drum, cars passing me by
Under a bridge dark then back into light
A river of raincoats and a forest of facesStill for a moment then red into green
Slow shuffling shoes whisper sight unseen
Row upon row of houses return an empty stare
Lettin' the daydream for a little while longerHey, hope Ill never wake
When Im thinkin' about you
Yeah, hope Ill never wake
'Cause now Im thinkin' about youTwo minute hailstorm then melts into rain
Oh, sing me a rainbow, its sunny again
Swallows overhead while the traffic snarls below
Could I, could I keep dreaming for a little while longer?Hey, hope Ill never wake
When Im thinkin' about you
So that you know, I never want to wake
'Cause now Im thinkin' about youWhen youre searching your soul
And when youre searching for pleasure
How often, pain is all you findBut when youre coasting along
And nobodys trying too hard
You can turn around and like where you areHey, and I hope I'll never wake
When Im thinkin' about you
And I close my eyes, yeah
Now Ill never, never wake
Why should I stop thinking about you
