Nonbeliever

Crash Kings

Yellow streetlight, you illuminate the road so often traveled.
In a dream life, I would silently observe your path to nowhere and you're gonna light me up, in a way I could never explain.Always letting go could bring you closer leaving, doesn't mean that this is over,
don't forget about the things that make you feel free.I would love you Monday, through 'til Sunday if you're a non believer.
Take me for an open-minded soldier, if you're a non believer.Right here someday.In the daylight, everything is so alive and full of meaning.
Shadows falling, followed by the things that glow inside me, and you're gonna light me up in a way I could never explain.Always letting go could bring you closer leaving, doesn't mean that this is over,
don't forget about the things that make you feel free.I would love you Monday, through 'til Sunday if you're a non believer.
Take me for an open-minded soldier, if you're a non believer.Right here someday.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/